

Brown gal in de ring Jamaica

Brown Girl in the Ring is a children's ring game thought to have originated in Jamaica. The title song has been popularised by the European pop group Boney M.

Ring games are played in many parts of the world by boys and girls, especially in their preteen years. The players form a ring by holding hands, then one girl goes into the middle of the ring and starts skipping around to the song. The girl is then asked "show me your motion", at which point she does her favourite dance. When she is asked "show me your partner", she picks a friend to join her in the circle.

JAMAICA destaca por su rica cultura y su música, las cuales han hecho a la isla famosa en el mundo. Los géneros musicales ska, reggae, rocksteady, dub, dancehall, ragga y ragga jungle, han sido todos concebidos en Jamaica. La música más popular es el reggae, con sus diferentes estilos y mezclas, dada a conocer a gran escala por el jamaicano Bob Marley.
